The South African Oncology Consortium (SAOC)

Dear All,

PROVIDING QUALITY ONCOLOGY CARE

SAOC has previously communicated, that Dr Martyn Schickerling has been unable to fulfil the role of CEO due to serious illness.

Despite this unfortunate circumstance the Board of SAOC want to assure all members and clients that SAOC is and will continue, building on the foundations that were set by Dr Schickerling and the SAOC staff over the years.

The South African Oncology Consortium is proud to introduce SAOC's new acting CEO, Dr Silvia Cornejo-Vega, who shares SAOC's passion for the delivery of appropriate quality care and sustainability in oncology in South Africa.

The SAOC has come a long way since it was founded in 2003 with developing and maintaining evidence-based treatment guidelines for all cancers. We are proud to say that we are the only registered Managed Health Care Organization with a true anonymous real-time Peer-to-Peer Review Panel infrastructure making provision for all cancer groups including specialised sub-panels. SAOC will not deviate from this core mandate.

We are excited to announce that SAOC will be launching new business undertakings soon, strengthening our goal in sustaining an active and efficient working relationships between care providers, healthcare funders, pharmaceutical companies as well as patients. We look forward to opportunities to engage with each of you as our plans unfold.

Nothing changes in SAOC's basis legal structure and managed care accreditation, and it remains the largest Oncology network in South Africa. Our association with medical scheme and administrator remain a key focus, and we are looking forward to expanding new relationships with other stakeholders in the health industry.

SAOC strive to unite stakeholders in oncology, i.e. oncologists, funders, pharmaceutical companies, clearing houses and others with the common goal of appropriate and cost-effective, quality care in oncology.

We look forward to having you onboard in this exciting journey.

Please do not hesitate to contact Dr Silvia Cornejo-Vega if you have any questions, proposals, or queries – she welcomes interaction with all SAOC stakeholders and shareholders.
